2 February 2007 – On 23rd January 2007, Informatics hosted the visit by delegates from The Ministry of Higher Education, The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. The delegates consisted of, Dr. Abdullah Bin Mohammed Alfaisal, Rector of King Saud University, Dr. Osama Bin Sadeq Tayeb, Rector of King Abdulaziz University, Dr. Khaled Bin Saleh Alsultan, Rector of King Fahd University for Petroleum and Minerals, and Dr. Adullah Ibrahim Bin Almojel, Deputy Minister for Cultural Relations.

The visit was arranged for the delegates to know more about Informatics and to have a first look at the facilities provided by the school. Upon arrival, our distinguished guests were greeted by the Management from the Singapore Operations as well as the International Division team. They were then taken on a campus tour followed by a photo taking session.

During the campus tour, the delegates were particularly impressed with the Electronic Attendance System that Informatics has in place, to monitor the attendance of the students. Aside from that, our distinguished guests also took the time to talk to a group of Saudi students studying in Informatics Singapore.

The delegates were then led to the board room for a presentation and discussion session which was chaired by Mr. Val Ortega, CEO, Informatics Education. At the end of the discussion, both sides were presented with gifts of appreciation, which then marked the end of the visit.
